JACOB KIM JOHNSON

I'm a UX/UI designer, graphic designer, and programmer with experience in industries including start-ups, nonprofits, and tech(SaaS), which has given me the distinct ability to examine situations and consider strategies from different perspectives. I have a deep passion for crafting elegant and engaging interfaces, and my creativity, empathy, critical thinking, and collaborative nature have been beneficial in helping me understand user behaviors and motivations, as well as make thoughtful decisions. Those insights have allowed me to be more open-minded as I figure out the details, while focusing on the big picture.
